

Hochschule RheinMain

International Week
Future Leaders
12th to 16th of August 2024

About this course

- International Focus: Unites students from different global universities
- Leadership Development: Emphasizes the development of personal leadership qualities
- Beyond traditional teaching: The program adopts a personal approach to understanding individual leadership potential
- Self-Leadership: Recognizes the importance of leading oneself before leading others, emphasizing self-awareness of strengths and weaknesses
- Personal Development Orientation: Strongly oriented towards personal development, requiring an open-minded and self-reflective attitude

Why participate

- Learning with dynamic activities and real-life applications
- Networking with students from other universities and countries
- This course takes place during summer holidays and you can get 3 extra ECTS credits
- Cool extra activities, e.g. a tour in Mainz, visit to a company, etc.
- Leadership does not only concern people in management positions but is an important future skill for one's own personal goal achievement

Opinions from previous years

- “I learned a lot about myself e.g., what leadership really means and what kind of leader I potentially want to be in the future. Last but not least it strengthened my self-confidence!”
- “The contact to students from other countries was amazing. It's incredible to learn about their values and ideas.”
